

The Revellers present

B & B USA

An artistic, financial and directorial triumph! this was the verdict on B & B USA. Audiences giggled all the way through this latest romp by Clive and Sue and everyone involved can feel justly proud of their efforts. Tick, star, VG! Special congrats go to Vicky and Nicole for their first leading roles and to Dan, who took the non-speaking role of Mr. Kofner to heights never envisaged by the authors. Well done Helen for directing and Sarah for assisting. It is good to see young talent emerging in all facets of production. Here are a few pictorial moments.

Que?

A little linguistic misunderstanding.

The whole cast take a well deserved bow him up that evening for a BBC chat show. She knows everything about him - inexplicable details - and he becomes more determined as the play progresses to find out more about her. Aided by his partner and his agent and hindered by a bout of flu, the strange story gradually emerges with surprising results

Mark, Gill, Helen and Steve in Deep discussion

cast in the role of Stanley is Mark Freeman. Helen Linford is the young woman, Gill Giaffreda plays the long suffering partner and Steve Gravett the agent. A cast to die for (we think you'll agree) and somebody nearly does!

This has got to be one of Clive's best plays and what better way to while away a summer's evening with this entertaining, amusing and mysterious story.

As this is a very small cast we look particularly for other members to sell and support Who Me? So don't just post something on Facebook - sell some tickets - especially those of you who want to be in The Revellers Spooktacular. After all, it is the plays that finance the bigger productions!

Tickets can be obtained by ringing Sylvia on 755176 or Sue on 560449 and cost just £12 including fish and chips. The play runs from 9 - 12 June.

Brian Havers & Denis Stapleton look on aghast at the tug-o-war between Cyd Beagley and Joanna Linford

The bikers Shaun Kane and Nicole Gardiner are not quite the guests that Brian Havers and Vicki Head like

AND NOW PRESENTING.....

The Revellers Present

WHO ME?

A MYSTERY COMEDY
By Clive Read

9-12 June

A SUPPER THEATRE

Fish and chips in the interval
The Peterborough Indoor Bowls Club
Burton Street Phone 560449

Sue Read is busy directing a superb cast in this mystery comedy by husband Clive. A small, (but perfectly formed) cast are working hard to bring this excellent play to audiences in June. The story revolves around successful author, Stanley Lincoln, who is assailed late one evening by a young woman who made

Revellers Rag

SPOOKTACULAR!
27 - 30 OCTOBER 2015

The Revellers present
A Halloween Entertainment

A supper Theatre
The Peterborough Indoors Bowls Club

Sue and Clive are busily gathering material together for this epic which will have its first rehearsal on Thursday June 18th at St. Johns. If anyone has any ideas or horrible party pieces they wish to be considered by all means mention it to Sue when you come to see Who Me? the week before.

Sue has also picked a couple of numbers which will be performed by children. Only children related to members or patrons please. Names to be given to Sue at first rehearsal. They will not need to come to Revellers until much nearer the show as kids learn their stuff much quicker than we do!

AGM 30th APRIL 2015

The meeting passed through with no major problems and your committee so far is as follows:

Chairman	Clive Read
Secretary	Jonathan Buckle
Treasurer	Pam Stimson
Publicity	Sue Read
Social Sec.	Sarah Middleton
Patrons Sec.	Gill Giaffreda
Members Rep	Sarah Dawson
Promotions	Debbie Easson

There is one committee position vacant as Brian Havers stood down as Company Manager. This position was created as an overseer to all aspects of staging a production. It's not as terrifying as it sounds you just have to assist in all capacities if required. If anyone would like to fill the vacancy please contact Clive. In the meantime we extend our heartfelt thanks to Brian for all his hard work in the past.

SOCIAL WHIRL

Sarah is arranging a trip to Tolthorpe again to see Romeo & Juliet on July 28th. Tickets are £15 and a picnic tea will be taken by participants too. This was an excellent event last year so get in touch with Sarah asap if you are interested on 07931 190894.

Another of Jonathan's Jaunts is also planned for the summer months so watch this space for more details.

SYLVIA'S SURPRISE

Our hardworking President, Sylvia, was suitably surprised by the excellent party arranged by her son to celebrate her 80th birthday. Thinking she was just meeting a few friends for a meal Sylvia was shocked to find that Kevin had organised the Bowls Club venue and loads of Revellers, family and other friends were there to wish her well. Many congratulations!

MORE PRODUCTIONS PLANNED

Sue and Clive's plays are still being performed around the country on a regular basis and, encouraged by this, they are in the process of writing another comedy centred around a wedding. "Best Man" is the title of this one and it will be staged at the Bowls Club early in 2016.. Steve Gravett has expressed a wish to repeat his directorial experience with this one after the great success of The Bitter End.

Following this it is planned to go to The Key with a musical. The search is on for a suitable show to be staged in the autumn of 2016. Exciting times ahead then!

SOCIETY SNIPPETS

A little bird tells us that Brian Havers has also got an idea for a new play buzzing in his brain. What other society can boast such a wealth of literary talent eh?

Congratulations to Sarah Goodman and Simon Duffield on the birth of the gorgeous Morgan. Here he is with his proud Mum.
